Re: Western Clay Company
Limestone Mine
ACT/041/004

The Western Clay Limestone Quarry was inspected by Ron Daniels, Brian Buck, Jim Smith and Mike Thompson on January 5th, 1978. The mine was inactive operation at the time, mostly drilling and loading Limestone. We were met by Mr. Tom Robison who explained the proposed mining and reclamation procedures. The north side of the outcrop contains a 'bed' of Limestone that is unsuitable for rock dust. Therefore, the rock will be quarried out from under it as much as possible. At termination the highwalls will be blasted and spoil graded up to them producing slopes of less than 45 degrees. Rock berms will be placed above any problem areas. Stockpiled soil will be spread back over the slopes and reseeded as much as possible.
